CHURCHILL SAYS BRITAIN STRENGTHENED

Nazi Warships Out Of Action For 'Some Time To Come'

Prime Minister Will Not Relinquish Post
As Chief Of Defence

LONDON, Feb. 17.—(CP)—Germany lost the use of her 26,000-ton battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst "for some time to come" and Britain strengthened her command of the seas in last week's battle of the English Channel, Prime Minister Churchill declared today in an accounting to the House of Commons.

Damages inflicted on the German ships during their dash for freedom will lay them up for repairs, the prime minister declared, and before they are seaworthy again "the Royal Navy will be reinforced by important units of the highest quality" along with big new ships joining the United States Navy to meet their challenge.

Mr. Churchill was facing his parliamentary critics for the first time since the naval episode last Thursday and the fall of Singapore which has stirred up demands for change.

Report Is Confident, Optimistic

But his report was confident and optimistic and he yielded nothing to their demands.

The exhortation that he relinquish the extra burden of the ministry of defence, a portfolio he now holds, Mr. Churchill answered no.

He declined also to discuss the surrender of Singapore, explaining that "I have no information to give the house other than that contained in the statement which it would be prudent to speculate in detail upon the various evil consequences which may follow" from its fall.

OPEN INVESTIGATION

Mr. Churchill announced an investigation of the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau's actions in the recent naval battle, saying he was awaiting the results of the German investigation before he would be in a position to say whether the R.A.F. was all it should be.

Even while Mr. Churchill was discussing the matter in his office, however, he was indicating the R.A.F. had been seeking out the German battleships in their German ports.

The return of the R.A.F. to the Far East, he said, was to be the final step in the German advance.

"The more sense of disappointment or annoyance may remain in our breasts that the final fort will be in giving out the total of sub-scriptions reported overnight as at the close of business yesterday, the National War Fund Committee said. Total subscriptions to date amount from $1,000,000 up to $5,000,000 more from large industrial concerns and thousands of individuals from employees of in-vested companies, said the committee in a statement.

BALANCED RESPONSE

The total of $51,334,000 compares very favorably with the total of $51,324,000 during the first day of the $60,000,000

paign, Jean, headquarters

The Japanese menace to China has come to an abrupt halt since the fall of Singapore.

Losses suffered from the battle
in Malaya and the fall of Singapore were encouraging. The Japanese are well past the Selangor river on a line extending about 100 miles to the Malacca River and to Singapore. This line, as nearly as can be estimated from incomplete reports, is the line which connects Rangoon with the Burmese

The implications of the Japanese advances are enormous. If the Burma road can, as is now expected, be held, the Japanese will be able to capture Malaya and to bring Kai-Shek's armies will cease. China has no war production of her own. China is strangled again. The Japanese will be able to bring another Italian destroyer was believed to have been hit yesterday

$600,000,000 In Oil Destroyed
In East Indies

BATAVIA, N.E.H., Feb. 17.—(AP)—The Netherlands' application of the "sabotage" technique to the oil fields installations on Sumatra, and Borneo, is advance of the oil reserves of the area to $600,000,000, informed sources estimated tonight.

It is believed that sufficient oil stores have been accumulated in Java to meet United Nations' war requirements for the next year, but, however, that oil production will be reduced to a minimum, it is believed, to meet the demands of the meager stocks produced on Java.

The Palangam oil sources alone produced more than 4,000,000 tons last year, making their destruction the largest volume of destruction in the Batavia Newiedau.

Mr. Hunter will spend the day

During the afternoon he will pay

Dodgers Out To Help War Effort

BROOKLYN, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Going beyond all other baseball clubs in their war effort, Brooklyn Dodgers announced Monday they would donate their entire revenue from all home games to the war bond game and many exhibitions to service funds in 1942 and would give 100 per cent of all gate receipts to this season free.

L. S. (Larry) Clegg, president of the club, said he had tried to get all clubs to collaborate in the broader program that will be in effect throughout the country.

The Dodgers will play exhibition games during the training season and the club's members will contribute, donating all their receipts to camp athletic funds with no deductions for expenses.

With the Kraut's potential value to players at "three or four goals a game" and with the figures his team has given, the Dodgers have had to be in the lead.

He rates as his best line a forward, Eddie Stanky, and a right fielder, MacNichol of London, Ont., who led the Michigan League in hitting before he came to Brooklyn.

Camilli has a good year and was considered a reasonable value," the Dodgers' boss said in announcing the signing.

Camilli was understood to have received $10,000 last year.

Russia - Bound Convoy In A Wintry Sea

A war dog (foreground) watches over its charges in the chill dawn

Frozen fog casts its mantle

Keeping weapons and equipment free of paralyzing ice coat

Warm dress is essential for deck duty.

An almost unbroken chain of merchant ships valiantly withstands the challenge of both nature and enemy submarines in an effort to keep open the lifeline to Russia and other Allied nations. These can be reached via the northern route, and the very hardships in the form of cold, choppy seas, ice and darkness, not to mention icebergs, both submerged and on the surface, lend their own form of protection from undersea vultures. In the few short hours of twilight which comprise "daytime" during the Arctic winter, camera records the icy voyage of naval escort and cargo ships bearing war supplies from the American arsenal of democracy to Uncle Sam's allies.

The battle with Jack Frost is another factor

Crewmen keep chins up with a smile.

Russia's Winter Bomber

One reason for the sensational Russian push against the Nazis is the Red army's ability to "Keep 'Em Flying" at 20 below zero and lower, a temperature that solidifies ordinary lubricating grease into an ice-like block. This is the PE-2, twin-engined super-speed bomber in its natural winter terrain, as it prepares to take off for a raid. The reputation the PE-2 has won for itself is an enviable one, but details of its winter performances remain a closely guarded secret.

Asks More Aid For Russia

Sir Stafford Cripps, retiring British ambassador to Russia, is shown with Lady Cripps as he arrived in London from Moscow. Sir Stafford asked that Britain and the United States send more supplies to Russia for the expected spring drive Hitler's armies are expected to make.

The Chief Wants To Know

No mere formality was Lt-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton's visit to various tank and gun plants in Montreal. Everywhere he went the Canadian Corps Commander asked numerous questions and examined closely every piece of equipment. Here he is examining a part of the breech mechanism of a two-pounder anti-tank gun. With him are Maj-Gen. A. E. MacRae (centre), military technical adviser to the department of munitions and supply, and H. M. Black, plant manager of the Dominion Engineering Works at Longueuil.

Survive Fatal Sub Crash

Fortunate enough to be on the bridge—am I get buried into the sea—when the ill-fated U. S. submarine S-26 sank after colliding with another naval vessel off Panama, three of the four men pictured above are the sole survivors. It is thought 36 of their shipmates perished. Shown examining a signal buoy released by the men trapped in the sunken craft are Lt. Robert E. Ward, left, of Antioch, Calif.; the ship's skipper, Lt.-Comdr. Earl C. Hawk, of Saugerties, N.Y., holding buoy; Capt. T. J. Doyle, in charge of rescue operations; and extreme right, Seaman Joe B. Hurst, of Ada, Okla.

Eight New Ships Ready To Sail

Eight "Liberty" ships, built under the American government's emergency shipbuilding program at the Terminal Island shipyards of the California Shipbuilding Corp., are shown at their fitting-out basin as they are ready to carry the materials of war turned out by Uncle Sam to the Allied nations in all parts of the world. A ninth ship, the third to be launched within eight days, is not shown.

Duggan States Interest Rate Could Be Paid

A measure of confidence was restored by the provincial treasurer when he said he was ready to resume discussions on refunding of the Alberta debt.

Dr. W. W. Cross, who told the legislature Monday, but he commented that revenue had been sufficient to pay the full interest on the debt without sacrificing any of the public services.

Mr. Duggan opened the debate on the budget for the opposition and at the request of Hon. S. S. Lowry, the finance minister, was allowed to speak 40 minutes as he took the place of the opposition leader in the debate. The debate was adjourned by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and relief, who will take over the negotiations with the government. Making his Duggan budget debate address, Mr. Duggan spoke for a moment and a quarter.

If provision for the restoration of contractual interest rates were a public debt, it even at that rate of interest, the rate that the present half-coupon allowance had been made in the budget, it would have been sufficient to pay the interest on the debt, without sacrificing any of the public services, he said.

LOSS TO PROVINCES

He said that the half rate of interest being paid had resulted in a loss of $88,000 annually to public and semi-public bodies in the western provinces. The Alberta bonds and in capital depreciation of $5,000,000 on these same holdings. The Alberta bonds are now at $2,000,000 since June 1, 1938, and private holdings in the United Kingdom are at $1,000,000.

At the outset of his speech Mr. Duggan declared that "patrons had crept into the public works department" and that Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister, to take steps to deal with it if he wished to "make the regulation of the civil service a permanent part of the province as maintenance of present social services, he said."

"I recall quite vividly how two years ago I was in my office and advised that they were being worked on highways for practically five years and that Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister, telephoned the foreman and he advised me they were very busy," Mr. Duggan said at the assembly.

"Immediately I contacted him and told him that he was correct in that statement. What can we do?" said. "Our own Social Credit members are out of work and they are not finding work and we are spending our money."

"Well, Mr. Speaker, that is a very peculiar situation because that is all it is. The money belongs to the people of this province and when any honest man in this province sees that he is forced by Social Credit groups to exercise his powers and tell the people that they are not finding work, men of whom he speaks highly to replace them with men who had accepted the Social Credit election, then I say that is political patronage of the worst kind."

Dr. W. W. Cross, who agreed to table all the names involved in his statement. Mr. Duggan replied he has no objection to the government taking them back but he did not desire to embarrass any member and he would not do so without the necessary information from the minister of public works rather than table it in the house.

DUTY TO GOVERNMENT

Mr. Duggan, beginning his address, said it was the duty of the Alberta government to husband provincial resources to the greatest possible advantage; to produce the minimum cost to certain public expenditures to the irreducible minimum; to discharge the responsibilities of government such as trustee functions to public disclosure of highly controversial monetary matters; to develop a sound standard of operation with the federal government; and to do everything that will make the Canadian contribution to Canada's war effort.

Congratulating Mr. Lowry for a good speech, Mr. Duggan expressed praise for it.

The "exceedingly healthy" revenue position of the province; making available to the average increase of $5 monthly to old age pensioners, without any increase in taxation for the pensioners; providing compensation of close to $3,000,000 in war loans and the increased $10,000,000 subscription to the Victory Loan.

Mr. Duggan said that extra people will be employed and will be offset by the fact that more people are working now and higher wages are received.

Mr. Duggan expressed regret.

No bill has been called on administrative expenditures; the budget for the year 1939-40, of the public funds on treasury branches, Social Credit board, and other visionary reform, no provision has been made for payment of contractual interest rates on the public debt or even a mere token amount.

Mr. Duggan said that the element is made, provision for highway roads and bridges is not commensurate with the program. There is an increase in the motor vehicle license; and that there is no provision for the public works to provide for the inevitable financial contributions of the post war period.

CONCERTED ACTION

Mr. Duggan said he had hope the attitude of the provincial treasurer that concerned action by the western provinces in connection with revenue will be decided within the first step of the program of closer co-operation in approaching problems facing western Canada.

itself. "Until such time as the board receives definite information from the government of Alberta there can be little value in sending a delegate before the Board," he declared.

Malcolm Ainslie, vice-president of the Trade and Labor Council, who was present, held the support of Ald. Parsons.

Delegates at the meeting, in expressing their views on the cost-of-living bonus, declared that while payment of the bonus together with other allowances and payments previously agreed upon.

Since the start of the war, it was agreed, no bonus had been made in salaries of the dispensers, but in view of a policy of the government, it had been decided on and in some instances up to date, given to the men or their dollars.

Delegates maintained that hotel-keepers who had previously granted bonuses and hotel owners, had not done so without legal authority. They declared that only the Regional War Board had the power to pay out a bonus once it was granted, and that to the best of their knowledge no hotel-keepers had been given the bonuses by the board.

PROMISES SUPPORT

Maintaining that if we get a bad deal, we will not be licked, the delegates urged the Council to give its fullest support to the government.

Alfred Farmiloe, secretary of the council, advised the delegates of the first aid committee; Chief Engineer, A. W. Haddow, chief engineer of the utilities and public works department.

Mr. Haddow said he would release a statement after he had received all the reports. He had no objection to the cost-of-living bonus, but in view of the fact that the blackout was a "commendable first effort."

WORK HARDER

If employers are going to be allowed to flout the law and be allowed to take a cut in wages, the population in regards to cost-of-living bonuses by seeking quirks in the law, will be able to escape the bonus, it will most certainly have a vital effect on our war production.

"By not paying bonuses," he said, "some employers are probably taking a cut in wages, and many of whom were engaged in vital war work, and as a result it will be a great blow to our war effort. It's probably very sound economics for the people who are not working, but this kind of economy is bad."

"People today," he went on, "have to work harder than ever before, and we must have a lot of war production and in order to do that they must have sufficient food.
